132,500 German Prisoners Pass Through One City to Russian Prisons—Austrian Strength Reduced One Third—Servians Given Aid by Russian Troops—Germany Playing for Italy's Favor—Allied Aviators Drop More Bombs in Germany—Russian Forces Still on Offensive in Galicia—Strategic Defeat for Germany.

By Associated Press.

Petrograd, via London, December 5.—The most tragic moment of the fighting near Lodz occurred when heavy German forces, which had been surrounded, fought their way through the Russian cordon. The Germans cut a passage through the Russian troops at the point of the bayonet for a distance of 15 miles.

The battle is called the bloodiest and most pitiless fight of the war. Ninety per cent of the German officers were put out of action and many regiments had less than 100 men left. The fighting lasted 36 hours. Germans fell in rows, but their comrades pushed forward over their bodies and hurled themselves against the Russians.

While reports continue to come in to London that the battle of Lodz has ended in a Russian victory any official confirmation still is lacking, and it is apparent to British observers that conditions in the north of Poland are virtually the same as they were one week ago, after the German army had been saved from overwhelming defeat by the brilliant operations of General Mackensen. Details of the Lodz fighting are beginning to filter through and they easily prove it to have been the most bloody struggle of the war.

Berlin claims heavy captures of prisoners in the struggle while from Kiev comes the announcement that the fortress there is crowded with German prisoners. Incidentally Kiev reports that since the beginning of the war 130,000 soldiers and 2,500 officers have passed through Kiev as prisoners of war.

The allies have ceased claiming a tremendous victory in northern Poland but they do assert that the operations there have been a strategic defeat for Germany and a technical victory for Russia.

The Russians would appear not yet to have been diverted from their attacks in Galicia and the invasion of Hungary, but the fortresses of Przemyśl and Cracow still are intact and are likely to put up a stronger defense against the Russians than did the Belgian forts against the Germans. Unless a decisive defeat can be inflicted on the Austrian army at Czenstochowa, it is argued in London, it is not probable that the Russian army of the south will be in a position to begin any serious invasion of Silesia until Cracow has been reduced.

An eyewitness with the British forces in France reports that both sides in West Flanders are engaged in siege operations and that the Germans have almost entirely abandoned their infantry assaults in force.

exercise strong pressure to prevent Italy from passing to the side of the allies.

Berne, Switzerland, December 5.—The sound of heavy cannonading in Upper Alsace has been heard as far as Basel and other localities near the Swiss frontier. The main struggle between the French and Germans, according to reports, is around Altkirch and Damerkirch.

The four hundred inmates of a large mad house near Sennheim were so frightened by the roaring of the guns that they became frantic and tried to break out of the asylum. The Germans were obliged to remove them to Mulhausen.

DARK PLOT
UNEARTHED

By Associated Press.

Paris, December 5.—Proof that a violation of the neutrality of Switzerland was included in Germany's original plans has been found, says the Matin, in the shape of ordinance survey maps discovered among the papers on killed German officers.

The maps are similar to those used by Swiss officers, the Matin says, except that all the names are in Italian and information of a special nature printed on them shows they were intended for the use of an Italian army marching across Switzerland to attack France.

A novel kind of warfare, recalling the hand-to-hand combats of a century ago, but with entrenching and engineering features undreamed of before the days of the present powerful explosives, is a feature of the fighting along the western battle front.

An official report from Vienna admits that the advance of the Austrians has been prevented by violent attacks from strong hostile forces covering the Servian retreat. No hint is given as to the identity of these forces, but it is believed that Russian aid has reached the sorely pressed Serbs.

Berlin reports that such help will be no longer possible for the reason that the blowing up of the great tunnel near Tekija has blocked communication with Roumania and made impossible the passage of Russian transports along the Danube.

Aviators of the allies, according to Berlin, have dropped bombs in the neighborhood of Friburg and Breisgau.

Petrograd, via London, December 5.—The military critic of the Bourse Gazette reckons that the losses of the Austrians in prisoners is equal to their number of dead and wounded and places the fighting strength of Austria now at two-thirds of what it was at the beginning of the war. He cites the smaller percentage of Austrian artillery falling into Russian hands and says that since the second Austrian retreat from Poland the artillery is always withdrawn from the field before the final issue of the battle. This, he declares, amounts to beginning a retreat before they are actually defeated.

The critic also points out the large proportion of officers among the prisoners, indicating the demoralization of the Austrian army and the loss of the fighting spirit. He states that the last 50,000 Austrian prisoners included 600 commissioned officers. The writer contrasts this with the results where the Russians are engaged against the Germans. There, he declared, the officers fall fighting.

Rome, December 5.—The announcement that Prince Von Buelow, former chancellor of the German empire, has been placed at the head of the German embassy, while Ambassador Von Flotow is absent on account of his health, has created a sensation here. It is considered remarkable that a former chancellor should be at the head of an embassy, which by no means the most important.

The wife of the prince belongs to a prominent Italian family. Many are of the opinion that his appointment means that Berlin is about to

CHICAGO OFFICERS
UNDER INDICTMENT

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Indictments were returned today naming two police officers and a former detective, involved in the "graft" confession of Barney Bertsche and the brothers, Frank and James Ryan. The defendants charged with conspiracy to obtain money by fraud and with bribery are Captain James J. Halpin, Lieutenant John Tobin and former Detective Walter O'Brien.

O'Brien was dismissed from the force six months ago for alleged complicity in the protection of persons engaged in the clairvoyant swindles conducted by the Ryans.

Bertsche is said to have confessed to State's Attorney Hoyne, a month ago, implicating the policemen indicated and others not yet formally named in court proceedings, and the Ryans. Bertsche is said to have admitted himself the go-between in the payment of protection money to the police.

"I paid my three and four hundred dollars a week to Halpin just like rent; it was so regular," Bertsche is quoted as telling Hoyne. "I never squealed any, but when they turned me down to the rialto and tried to do me I concluded to talk."

Bertsche was the center of a street fight in which he exchanged several shots with Detectives Egan and Monaghan, as a result of which five men, including Bertsche and the detectives were sent to the hospital with bullet wounds. The detectives claim Bertsche opened fire first but the latter insisted that he fired in self-defense and that he was attacked because the police, despite the fact that he had remained silent on the witness stand when convicted of swindling a woman of La Crosse, Wis., feared he would confess and implicate them.

BATTLE OF LODZ IS STILL RAGING

Berlin Says German Offensive Is Taking Its Normal Course.

RUSSIANS CLAIMING VICTORY

Early Fall of Cracow, Now Invested by the Czar's Legions, Not Anticipated by British Military Experts. Battle in Western Zone Reported to Be at a Standstill—Australian and New Zealand Troops Arrive.

London, Dec. 5.—According to unofficial dispatches from the Russian capital, the battle of Lodz has ended in success for the Russians, but this statement is opposed to that of the Berlin official report, which says the German offensive in Poland is taking its normal course.

The fact is that the fighting in this region has developed into such a jumble that it is almost impossible to follow it. The most important factor, from the allies' point of view, is that the German advance on Warsaw seemingly has not succeeded in its object, nor has it had the effect of diverting the Russians from their forward movement through the Carpathians and on to the plains of Hungary or against the fortress of Cracow, around which they are drawing a closer ring of men and artillery.

Taking into consideration the case of Przemyśl, which has held out so long against the Russian attacks, military men do not look for the early fall of Cracow and are rather inclined to believe that the armies of Emperor Nicholas will endeavor to keep the large Austrian forces inside the fortress and enter Silesia from the south-east.

Much depends, however, on the battle which is being fought with such intensity farther north between the rivers Vistula and Nerthe, and in which all agree the issues on both sides have been very heavy.

The battle in the west appears to be at a standstill. The allies and the Germans have attempted to take the offensive at different points along the front, but as neither claims to have made any advance and as both official reports mention repulses of the enemy, it is evident that the attacks which have been made have not met with much success.

The arrival of Australian and New Zealand contingents in Egypt on forty transports is quoted as another triumph for the British navy. The German cruiser Emden was not far from this fleet of transports when she was overtaken and destroyed by the Australian cruiser Sydney.

SEVEN MILLION ARE DESTITUTE

London, Dec. 5.—Herbert Clark Hoover, chairman of the American commission for relief in Belgium, returned to London after a week's trip of inspection in Belgium. Mr. Hoover reported that the distribution of food-stuffs sent in care of the American commission is well under way, but stated that the condition of famine which threatened the population still is desperate, and that on account of the attitude of the belligerents the Belgians still must appeal to the people of the United States for relief.

"It is difficult to state the position of the civil population of Belgium without appearing hysterical," said Mr. Hoover in his statement. "I do not know that history presents any parallel of a population of 7,000,000 people surrounded by a ring of steel and utterly unable by any conceivable effort of their own to save themselves. We are meeting with no obstruction from the military authorities of Belgium in the prosecution of our work. Not one loaf of bread or one spoonful of salt that we have introduced has been taken by the military."

PASSING OF CHIEF JUSTICE UNEXPECTED

Supreme Judge Passed Away Suddenly at His Home.

A VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE

Judge Keenly Disappointed at His Defeat For Re-election to the Supreme Bench—Chief Justice Nichols and Surviving Judges to Attend the Funeral in a Body—Sketch of Wilkin's Career.

Columbus, Dec. 5.—Chief Justice Nichols and the surviving judges of the supreme court will attend in a body the funeral of Judge J. Foster Wilkin of the supreme court, who fell dead in his home in New Philadelphia.

Death was due to heart disease and followed a seizure two weeks ago, while the jurist was walking from his apartments in the Lincoln hotel here to the judiciary building. He apparently recovered, but was advised to go home for a rest, which he did. His illness took a serious turn several days ago, but his death was wholly unexpected. Thursday he dictated a hopeful letter to Judge Oscar W. Newman of the supreme court, but did not have strength to sign it. In it he said he was able to be up and about but still was very weak, yet he expected to be back at work in the court by Monday.

Judge Wilkin suffered a nervous breakdown after the election, at which he was defeated for a second term. He was keenly disappointed at his defeat and his friends and associates in the judiciary building say it undoubtedly was a contributing factor in his illness and death.

Judge Wilkin was sixty-three years old. He was a Virginian by birth and was graduated at the University of Virginia. Some thirty years ago he served two terms as prosecuting attorney of Tuscarawas county, and while holding that office gained local fame by driving a set of grafters out of office.

This was the only public position he ever held until his election to the supreme bench in 1912. He was a Democrat and was renominated at the Democratic primaries last August, but failed of election on the non-partisan ballot.

He leaves a widow and six sons and two daughters. Of the sons, David L. and Wilbur are attorneys in Cleveland, Robert is an attorney at New Philadelphia, Reed is a law student at O. S. U., James F. and the sixth son are in business in the state of Washington. The two daughters, one a widow, are at the family home in New Philadelphia. Mrs. Wilkin was seriously ill at the time the judge contracted his illness, but recovered.

WILL KILL GARDNER PROPOSAL

Strength of Administration to Be Exerted Against It.

Washington, Dec. 5.—President Wilson had two important conferences, at which the administration's plans for dealing with the Gardner resolution to investigate the war preparedness of the United States were discussed. He saw Representative Shirley, the chairman of the fortifications subcommittee of the house committee on appropriations, and Chairman Fitzgerald of the committee on appropriations.

It is certain, as a result of these conferences, that the strength of the administration in the house will be exerted to kill the Gardner measure at the outset. This is the first authoritative disclosure of the president's intentions, inasmuch as he has steadily refused to express himself in advance of the conference to which he has invited Representative Gardner for next Monday.

It is possible, however, that the president, in recognition of the interest which Gardner has succeeded in arousing throughout the country on the subject of the country's defense strength, will approve a proposal for something more of an inquiry into the condition of the army and navy than would be made in the routine committee hearings.

Both Shirley and Fitzgerald are preparing speeches on the subject of the Gardner resolution which are to be advanced in answer to Mr. Gardner's charges.

NOISES OF CITY CAUSES INSANITY

Washington, Dec. 5.—"City Noises" was made the subject of discussion at the meeting of the American Civic association. "Public Health Versus the Noise Nuisance" was the text of an address delivered by Mrs. Morgan B. Oakley of Philadelphia. "Apologists for noise say that those who differ with them are nervous cranks," said Mrs. Oakley. "My numerous suffering correspondents disprove the theory. They are not the idle rich; they are the toiling people. Many of them never heard the words 'nervous invalid,' but they say they are dying of noise. When they claim that constant noise is undermining their health they are simply in accord with the best medical science." Mrs. Oakley suggested that city noises were the cause in part for the increase of insanity.

Octa Votes Dry

The past record of the little village of Octa as the one wet spot in Fayette county for a number of years, was wiped out in the wet and dry election of yesterday, when every one of the 35 voters of the little town cast a dry vote.

To so right about face and take her place among the municipalities of the county which have, by their own efforts, banished the open saloon, was a great triumph for Octa and her citizens—an added triumph since the decision was entirely made by the residents of the village.

Contrary to the usual custom in these elections, no outside influences were brought to bear; no wet and dry campaign inaugurated.

Octa was left to work out her own problem; to make up her own mind about inviting back the open saloon, and the unanimous vote was purely the result of independent voting and expressive of the wishes of her citizens.

Gratifying as is the result of the election to the advocates of the dry movement throughout the county, they must give to Octa's own citizens the glory of the dry victory.

All the more significant is the victory yesterday when it is remembered that Octa's former position was so at variance with the prevailing dry sentiment of the county that it was necessary to call a county election to close the saloons of that one village; also that in the recent election she cast 8 votes for prohibition and 21 against it; 20 votes for and 11 against home rule.

It is the natural inference that, however the citizens of Octa may feel concerning the matter of state prohibition, they believe the return of the open saloon would not be to the advantage of their village and are also willing, no matter what the individual opinions, to defer to the large sentiment of the county as expressed in the county local option elections.

Whether it is due to the change of conditions following the doing away with the open saloon and its wide-spreading influence, as is the belief of the dries, or not, one fact is undisputed—that since the saloon of Octa was put out of business, a church has been built, a new M. P. church, the first religious edifice ever erected in that village, and other claims are put forth for improvements that auger well for Octa's prosperity as a dry town.

Stock Raisers Suffer From Quarantine

The rigid quarantine against the live stock of Ohio, owing to the effort to overcome the foot and mouth disease, has greatly harassed stock raisers and the opinion is held by many that the enforcement of this quarantine by state and national authorities has been more strict than the situation has demanded.

That it has brought serious losses and inconveniences to the owners of live stock is without dispute.

Many farmers had perfectly healthy stock on hands—fat and ready to ship—and many had fed up all available feed and have found it both extremely difficult and a very expensive proposition to get more, and the farmer's best revenue producers, his cattle and hogs, became an added burden rather than a dependable source of income.

There has been a growing demand that these quarantine restrictions be modified, so as to permit the shipment of healthy stock beyond the confines of the state to outside markets.

It is being charged that packers and live stock buyers in the big markets of this state have taken advantage of present untoward conditions and are profiting greatly by the influx of stock crowding in and the stock raiser's extremity in being unable to cross the state line into the larger markets of Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Chicago.

These same conditions are seriously affecting local stock buyers also, in forbidding them access to the larger markets.

Realizing that this state of quarantine is becoming a serious thing to the farmers of Ohio, entailing enormous loss, both from the added expense in taking care of fat stock ready to go, and in the depreciation of values from overstocked markets, with no available outlet, Governor Cox has taken up the quarantine matter with the national authorities in an effort to gain permission to ship to the big markets.

Of course shipments would be made under the most careful regulations, with all proper protection as to disinfected cars, etc. Stock-raisers largely hold the belief that it would have been very much better to have allowed healthy stock to move out as quickly as possible, subject to thoroughly disinfected pens and cars, than to have corralled them, and would have expedited rather than retarded the purpose of the quarantine.

While it is justifiable that stockmen are greatly perplexed and annoyed by present conditions, and natural that they should demand modification of the restrictions in regard to perfectly healthy stock, it must not be overlooked that the foot and mouth disease is a most dangerous proposition, and those in charge of the agricultural interests of the state and nation realized the need of a superhuman effort to stamp it out. A half-way fight against the disease would only invite greater disaster. The suddenness and appalling spread of the disease made the handling of it all the more difficult. It should also be remembered that at the time strict quarantine regulations were laid down the large stock yards were either closed or being closed.

Fortunately, however, the progress of the disease has been arrested, the worst seems well over and it is with satisfaction and deep thankfulness that we read of the governor's personal efforts to secure a removal of the barriers in other states against Ohio's healthy stock.

There conceived and consecrated to the nation's final fall,
In the iron of my entrails, in my
thews of shrunken steel,
In my mighty bore of barrel, in the
claw of cleated wheel,
Through the travail of my forging, was there bred the ancient hate—Primal blood-feud of the races, which the races' blood must sate!

You, the Empress of the Ocean—did your statesmen ne'er foretell
That your fortresses should crumble

While the garnered greed of ages lay

While you slept my masters labored!
In the metal of my frame Molded they the mighty promise of a continent in flame!
In the casting of my carriage, in the
boring of my sheath,
They have riveted my armor with the dormant dragon teeth.

By my twelve-mile range projectile,
by my weight of forty tons,
Do I mock the slender playthings which Allies now call their guns!
Ever-anxious and unglutted, when the
rocking fight is red,
Then my slogan stirs all sleepers save the still and dreamless dead!

Lo! The past is but a promise!
When my Saturnalia comes,
Then the Saxon stands uncovered to
a march of muffled drums,
Then the northern snows are trampled
where the Slavic horsemen sleep,
And the Latin women tremble for their lovers as they weep!

CHARMING CREATION
OF BLACK PANNE VELVET WITH FUR AND SATIN.

AFTERNOON GOWN

Black velvet is lovelier than ever this season and is worn extravagantly.
The sheen is so wonderful that it looks almost like satin. The coat in the illustration is long, with a satin belt, which makes it look like a frock. The skirt has a long tunic, and the sleeves and collar of the coat are edged with fur.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Systematic Exercise.

The woman who does her own housework—and that is the fortune of the majority—is usually worn out at the end of the day, says a writer in Leslie's. She is apt to conclude, therefore, that exercise is a word not intended for her. She couldn't make a greater mistake. A woman needs a half hour's rest near the middle of the day. It is true, but she needs also systematic and stimulating exercise. One reason why women are so fatigued at the end of the day is that they lack muscle tone. Half an hour of brisk exercise suited to the peculiar needs of each individual, taken regularly, followed by a cold dash of water, will serve to keep the whole muscular and nervous system in tone and work wonders in keeping the eyes bright and the color good, something that all women desire. The housewife who takes both a brief rest and systematic exercise daily will not find herself so much a prey to that tired out feeling at the day's end and will be able to do all of her work the better.

Love Limericks.

There was a young man in Hoover
Who fancied he was in clover,
But his sessions of bliss
Ended quick with the miss
When pater gave him the once over.

A maiden who lived in Mohler
Was peevish, and no one could console her.
Her affair with a man,
Like a flash in a pan,
Stopped short when he proved a high roller.

UNANIMOUS DRY VOTE IS ROLLED UP BY OCTA

SMALLEST INCORPORATED TOWN IN COUNTY CASTS 35 DRY VOTES AND NO WET ONES, THREE VOTERS NOT GOING TO POLLS—RESULT A GREAT SURPRISE TO ALL—OTHER PARTS OF COUNTY EXPECTED TO CALL ELECTION SOON.

The voters of Octa sprung an overwhelming surprise, Friday by voting unanimously in favor of keeping a saloon out of that little town, 35 votes being cast and every one of them being against permitting a saloon in the town. Only three voters in the village did not cast their ballots.

"We don't want a saloon here, and we are not going to permit one to be established here" was the oft repeated statement made by Octa citizens before the election, and their votes were in accordance with their pre-election statement.

Every part of Fayette county awaited the result in Octa with the greatest interest, and many who recalled that on the recent prohibition amendment proposed the voters of Octa had cast eight for and 21 against the measure, predicted that the town would go "wet" by an overwhelming majority. However, others who had reports from Octa prior to the election were confident that the surprise would come in a substantial dry majority, but none predicted the big surprise which was sprung by a unanimous vote being cast in favor of making the town as dry as the Sahara.

Even the Weather Man was against a "dry" vote, for the rain poured down incessantly throughout the day.

It was generally conceded that if Octa voted dry there would be little danger of any other point in the county going wet, and for this reason the result was watched with interest by both wet and dry advocates.

The Octa election was called soon after the recent election when the "home rule" amendment was adopted, the citizens of that place realizing that unless an election was held that a saloon could be opened in the village at any time after a commission was appointed for Fayette county.

It is believed that since Octa voted dry that other parts of the county in which saloons might open, will get busy at once and call elections.

It will be recalled that a few years ago when the saloons were voted out of Washington and other parts of the county, that it required a special county option election to eliminate the saloon in Octa.

But Octa has now demonstrated that it does not require the county to vote her dry, and she has placed herself upon the map and in the annals of history as probably the only town where one extreme in voting followed so quickly upon the heels of the other.

The news was received in this city shortly after the polls closed Friday evening, and when it was carried to Grace church, where several hundred persons were assembled for the supper, it was announced, and Octa was roundly cheered.

ENTIRE OUTPUT OF SERUM COMES TO THIS COUNTY

Fayette county is now, and has been for some little time, been receiving the entire output of the State Hog Serum Manufacturing plant.

When the foot and mouth disease became so prevalent in the state, the Bureau of Live Stock Industry cut down the number of "vets" or chemists at the serum plant, to two men, sending the veterinarians to all parts of the state.

With the force reduced the amount of serum produced has not been great, and as the eradication work was under way in Fayette, the entire output was and now is shipped to this county for the purpose of immunizing swine.

In this way the work in Fayette has not been seriously interrupted, and the serum has been used to protect Fayette county herds.

AT THE PALACE Monday, Dec. 7th. THE RAGGED EARL

Popular Plays and Players Company Picturize Andrew Mack in His Famous Comedy-Drama.

Reviewed by the Rev. E. Boudinot Stockton, S. T. B.
For clean, pure comedy-drama, of the highest educational character we have seen nothing to compare with "The Ragged Earl" as made by Lubin for the Popular Plays and Players Company. It represents a type of photodrama that for the past five years we have been trying to convince manufacturers, directors and photoplaywrights is not only the kind that the American people want, but is also the kind that will increase the bank account of all concerned. It is a typical example of educational comedy or "pure food" as compared with the adulterated candy entertainment that is so common nowadays. Give us more of it.

As to the acting, Andrew Mack, who plays his old role of Gerald Fitzgerald, Earl of Kildare, the ragged earl, has achieved as great, if not greater, success before the eye of the camera as he did formerly in the eyes of thousands of legitimate theater goers, and he is most ably supported by the cast with which Lubin has supplied him. William Conklin as Sir Henry Harcastle is excellent; Edward J. Peil as Lord Wildbrook, the old roue who wishes to marry Kathleen, is inimitable and Ormi Hawley and Eleanor Dunn as the two stepchildren of Sir Henry are simply superb. So also is the actress whose name should have been listed in the cast who played the part of Lady Harcastle.

Another thing deserving comment is the settings and locations. The interiors are not only in keeping with the character of the story, but they also coincide with the exteriors, a point that is apparently almost always to judge from what we see, overlooked or paid little attention to by nearly every director. Fairmount Park, the Wisahickon Drive, and the Lancaster Turnpike offer some of the most beautiful exteriors that can be found anywhere in the world and, judging from the locations, we recognize in the picture these and similar localities have been utilized for all they are worth by a director who had a discerning mind.

LADIES SUPPER BREAKS RECORD

It was certainly a big success that turkey supper of the Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church, held Friday night. In spite of the deluge of rain the attendance was record-breaking, with close to 700 tickets sold.

The large crowd was managed with splendid system, the tickets numbered and the guests comfortably seated in the brightly lighted auditorium and entertained with a splendid concert by the Johnson orchestra until their numbers were called.

The immense basement dining room blazed with cheer, the long tables prettily adorned with bright colored flowers, and the women of the society gave every possible attention to their guests.

The turkey supper was one of the best and most appetizing ever served—hot and bountiful. Every one had all and more than they could eat.

The Dahl-Millikan Co. donated and served the Red Bird coffee, an appetizing adjunct to the supper, and the subject of favorable comment from the diners.

Mrs. Arthur Plyley, president of the Aid society, showed expert skill in her general direction of the supper and was ably assisted by her committees.

More than $50 worth of aprons were sold, the Domestic and Art departments and the Queen Esther society all having excellent sale for their wares.

CARPENTER PROBABLY FATALLY INJURED

While at work roofing a barn on the David Wissler farm in Paint township, this county, Clark Tumbison, a young man, sustained a fall of nearly 30 feet and is in a very serious condition, the result of internal injuries sustained.

His fall was due to a breaking scaffold, and so far as known no bones were broken, but a high fever indicates that his injuries are of an internal character. He is at the home of his sister in London.

HEALTH RESTORED BY RED CROSS SEALS

Deserted by her husband, suffering from tuberculosis in a double form, and supporting herself and young boy by her needle, the Anti-tuberculosis Association in a city of the middle west, found the unfortunate consumptive living in one room, with two little beds—one for herself and one for her boy. Everything was clean, but, oh, so poor!

That was a year ago. This morning she took a train for New Mexico, where she goes to live with her sister, happy at the thought of joining her friends and so improved in health that there is no apparent reason why she may not enjoy years of life. For the past year she has been under the care of the association. She was sent to a sanatorium until she was strong enough to undergo a major operation, when she was sent to a local hospital and given expert surgical services.

This morning, with a luncheon basket of delicacies packed by friends in the association and with transportation provided by the co-operation of the Associated Charities and the railroad, she started on her journey comparatively a well woman. She said she was free from pain for the first time in ten years.

That's what Red Cross Seals did. Buy yours today.

MONROE GEORGE SENTENCED TO THE STATE REFORMATORY

Entering a plea of slashing Carrie Allen with a razor in an effort to kill her, Monroe George, formerly of this city, was sentenced by Judge Kyle, of the Greene county common pleas court to an indeterminate term in the Mansfield reformatory. The term is not more than 20 years and in all probability will be some five years.

Monroe George, familiarly known as "Mon" was usually employed at some hotel, and time after time he had been in trouble in this city, but always managed to escape heavy sentence.

He was married to a Ross county woman and while in that county established a reputation for himself, and was arrested a time or two for non-support.

Going from this city to Springfield he became involved in trouble and was sentenced to the Xenia workhouse, where he served a long term for wielding a razor.

Shortly after his release he again became involved in trouble and again was sent back to the work house. After his release from the Xenia works a few weeks ago, he quarreled with one Carrie Allen, drew a razor and slashed her across the throat, inflicting a wound some eight inches in length, and which nearly caused the woman's death.

After the deadly assault he made his escape. A drag-net was thrown out by the police throughout this part of Ohio, and George was arrested in Chillicothe while bidding his wife good-bye before going to Norfolk, Va.

His subsequent return to Xenia, indictment, plea of guilty and sentence then took place in rapid succession.

The court gave George his choice of being sentenced to the State Reformatory or to the penitentiary, and he choose the former.

George is a colored man of very small stature, and when drinking, was always ready to cause trouble.

A delicious collation was served, with pink and white carnations and greenery decking the table, and individual cakes with blazing pink candles delighting the children.

Miss Ella Hess has issued invitations for a series of Kensingtons next week.

ROCKEFELLER'S MESSAGE READ

Urged Operators to Get In Good Graces of the Public.

SENSATION AT THE HEARING

Dispatch Made Reference to an Arbitrary Settlement Plan Advanced by Colorado Mine Owners Through Governor Ammons—Introduced For Purpose of Impeaching Rockefeller's Testimony Before Committee.

Denver, Dec. 5.—A telegram from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to Jesse F. Welborn, president, and L. M. Bowlers, chairman, of the board of Colorado Fuel and Iron company, created a sensation at the hearing of the federal commission on industrial relations.

This message, instructing the local men to do certain things calculated to entrench the coal operators in the good graces of the public, was procured in mysterious manner by the miners' union and copies were submitted to the federal commission, to be introduced later as evidence.

Welborn admitted the authenticity of the telegram, which is introduced for the purpose of impeaching the testimony of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., given before the congressional committee, denying that he had any active connection with the operators' conduct of the strike.

The telegram made reference to an arbitrary settlement plan which had been advanced by the operators through Governor Ammons and Rockefeller concluded by saying:

"It seems to us that the operators should call Dr. Foster's attention (meaning Representative Foster of Illinois) to these facts and reiterate their willingness to accept this settlement. By so doing they will place themselves in a very strong position before the public in that it would be evident that all disorder, since Nov. 27, has been due to the refusal of the union to accept the settlement which was proposed by the governor and accepted by the miners. Unless in the meantime there has been an important change in the situation, as stockholders and directors we strongly urge that the operators make reply to Dr. Foster along these lines."

Former United States Senator Patterson concluded his testimony by making a strong plea for a compulsory arbitration law, intimating that the operators by refusing to meet the men in conference considered that all men are not born equal. He said such a law was necessary to bring the operators to their senses.

THREE MORE ENTER PLEAS OF IMMUNITY

New York, Dec. 5.—Three more of the New Haven defendants signified their intention in the United States district court of relying on their testimony at the interstate commerce commission hearings to render them exempt from prosecution under the indictment charging them with violating the Sherman law. They were William Skinner, James S. Elton and George F. Baker. Argument on the pleas will be heard Monday.

CUSTOMS DUES GO TO CARRANZA

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 5.—With the capture of Guaymas, Carranzistas now claim to be in complete control of both the east and west coasts and all border ports in Mexico with the exception of Juarez and Nogales. It is pointed out that practically all of the customs dues of the entire republic are now going into the Carranza treasury. The railway line from Laredo to Monterrey and thence to Tampico is in full operation under Carranza control. Villa controls the Mexican Central from Juarez to Mexico City. All other railroads are divided in control between the different factions.

The first fighting between the Carranza forces on one side and the Zapata-Villista forces on the other, has taken place between Vera Cruz and Mexico City, according to a message from Vera Cruz, which reports the defeat of a band of Zapatistas forty miles out of Vera Cruz. The fight is said to have been between 3,000 Zapatista troops and a large number of Carranzista troops from the Vera Cruz garrison.

WOUNDED FRENCH SOLDIERS WAITING THEIR TURN AT WAR HOSPITAL TO HAVE INJURIES EXAMINED

Many of the wounded soldiers in the war suffer from injuries on the feet or legs or on the hands and arms. They are on the hospital list for several weeks and then sent back to the front. One must bear this point in mind when reading about the heavy casualty lists. The picture shows French soldiers waiting their turn to enter the surgical dressing room of a hospital at Vitry, France. Their wounds are examined or re-bandaged at stated intervals.

OHIO HAPPENINGS PICKPOCKETS HIT BY WAR

Mines May Be Run on Open-Shop Plan.

Cleveland, Dec. 5.—That the operators in the eastern Ohio coal fields, where a strike of 15,000 miners has been on since April 1 last, are considering the advisability of operating their mines under the open-shop system, as a result of the failure of the joint conference of the miners and operators to reach an agreement at the joint conference which adjourned here, became known almost immediately after the conference. The operators will meet here Monday afternoon next, and it was stated that the open-shop plan will be discussed.

Woman Suffrage Association Elects.

Columbus, Dec. 5.—Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton was re-elected president of the Ohio Woman Suffrage association at its convention here. Other officers elected were: Miss Rose Moriarty, Lorain, recording secretary; Mrs. Myron Vorce, Cleveland, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Zell Hart Deming, Warren, treasurer; Mrs. Julius F. Stone, Columbus, auditor; and Mrs. Harold Davidson, Dayton, state representative for the National Suffrage association. The question of submission of the suffrage question was decided tentatively in favor of 1916.

Hunters May Kill Rabbits.

Columbus, Dec. 5.—If farmers do not object, hunters may kill rabbits for an indefinite period. The protection placed upon bunny by the game law has expired, but by general consent of Governor Cox, Attorney General Hogan, Chief Game Warden Speaks and the state agricultural commission, hunters may take the field and shoot Mr. Cottontail, because he has become so numerous as to make himself a nuisance.

White Slavery the Charge.

Toledo, Dec. 5.—Edward Tull, aged thirty, Baltimore, against whom the federal grand jury returned a secret indictment charging white slavery, was arrested at the home of Mrs. Cora Hays. Ernest F. Baker, United States white slave officer, says Tull enticed Alvera Collins, sixteen, to accompany him to St. Paul last summer. The Federated Charities sent the girl home.

Robber's Victim May Die.

Cincinnati, Dec. 5.—Miss Gertrude Balz, bookkeeper in the Winton Savings bank, who was wounded by a robber, was pronounced in a critical condition by physicians. Miss Balz was struck on the head with an iron pipe and her skull was fractured. Little hope for her recovery is expressed. The robber secured $333 and escaped.

Compelled to Vote Wet.

Cincinnati, Dec. 5.—Rev. Jacob J. Hawk, secretary of the Western Tract society, said that he is the notary before whom a colored man swore to an affidavit that he and nine other colored men were intimidated by a prominent Cincinnati politician with a revolver on election day and compelled them to vote "wet."

Youngstown, O., Dec. 5.—Locked in boxcar by his playmates in the Pittsburgh yards, George Cain, sixteen, of Baden, Pa., was nearly dead when a freight train pulled in here. By chance the car was opened and the boy was rescued.

Governor Harris Very Ill.
Eaton, O., Dec. 5.—Andrew L. Harris, aged seventy-six, former governor of Ohio, is very ill of pneumonia at his home in this city.

Well Posted.

"I must congratulate you, Mrs. Come up, on your daughter's savior faire."
"Yes, and it's every bit imported."
—Baltimore American

New York, Dec. 5.—Deputy Correction Commissioner Burdette G. Lewis, who declared some time ago that he had information that the anarchists were plotting against Mayor Mitchel and other in authority here, asserted that he had found the cause of the outbreak of gunmen outrages lately. It is all due to the war in Europe, he said. "Most of the gunmen have graduated into that trade from pickpockets," he said. "Times are so bad that they have been put out of business as pickpockets. People carry very little change and practically no bills in their pockets any more, so the pickpockets can't make a living. I get my information from pickpockets with whom I became acquainted while they were in prison."

CENSORING CUPID.

The Girl Knew Exactly What to Do With the Letter.

The young woman in the fur toque frowned and shook her head.

"George thinks he's awfully cute," she said.

The other girl looked up.

"What has George done now?"

"He has sent me a censored proposal of marriage. What do you think of that? I suppose he has an idea that it won't be admitted as evidence against him. Want to see the thing?"

"Of course I do."

"There it is."

This is what the other girl saw:
"Dear Miss —: My — for you has been increasing so rapidly of late that — cannot resist the opportunity of asking you to be — wife. If you should marry — tomorrow — would be the happiest of men. Of course you understand that — await impatiently for your reply. Do not keep — in suspense. Yours, sincerely, — (Name deleted)."

The other girl handed back the letter.

"That's the worst thing I ever saw," she said. "What's he going to do about it?"

The first girl laughed.
"Fill in the blanks and accept him, of course."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Dainty little lady,
You're a charming sight!
Dusky lids so shady,
Cheeks so pink and white!

With a fond embrace,
Don't accept my offer
If they'd mar your face!

CALIFORNIA GIRL IS THE COMPLAINANT

Millionaire Arrested, Charged With White Slavery.

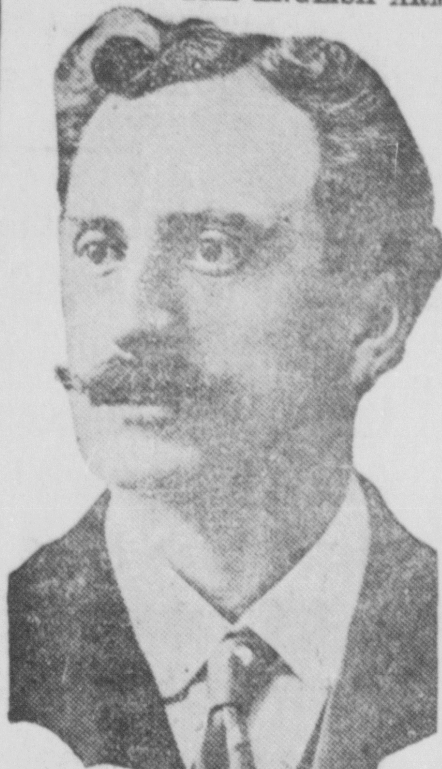

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Colonel Charles Alexander, sixty-two, a millionaire of Providence, indicted here, charged with violation of the Mann act, has been arrested in Providence, according to an announcement here by Charles F. Clyne, district attorney. He is charged with transporting Miss Jessie Cope of Los Angeles from Los Angeles to Chicago.

Miss Cope is under the surveillance of federal officers in Chicago and it is reported that the grand jury will consider charges of extortion said to have been made against her.

Colonel Alexander is a member of the firm of Alexander Brothers at Providence, a director of the Canadian Steel company, according to a statement issued by District Attorney Clyne.

"Colonel Alexander met Miss Jessie E. Cope at a social gathering in Los Angeles two years ago," the statement said. "He explained after their first meeting that he would procure a divorce and marry her. Then he proceeded to make violent love to Miss Cope. The evidence of the girl shows she relied on his promise to marry her. At his suggestion Miss Cope met him in Chicago Feb. 13, 1913. Later they went to New Orleans and from there to California."

WILLIAM REDMOND, NATIONALIST, JOINS THE ENGLISH ARMY.

WILLIAM REDMOND

London, Dec. 5.—William H. K. Redmond, M. P., brother of John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists, has joined the army in Ireland with the rank of captain. The action of the Irish Nationalist member in joining the British army is an answer to those who doubted the loyal protestations of the Irish parliamentary party and is sure to have an effect on recruiting in Ireland, where the Sinn Fein agitators and Sir Roger Casement's party have been opposing it. Stephen Gwynn, another Nationalist member, is also with the colors. In the days of the land war and plan of campaign William Redmond bitterly opposed English rule and suffered many prison terms.

MOTION PICTURE CENSORSHIP.

Strongest Censorship Is Always Voluntarily Imposed.

[By Hutchins Hapgood.]

The most interesting thing about the National Board of Censorship, as it is at present constituted, is that it rests upon no law at all, but on the co-operation of constituent elements in the community to improve the motion picture trade, both as a business and as a socially very important amusement and form of education.

In that respect it is similar to the joint board of sanitary control in the cloak-making industry, which likewise rests upon no legally compulsive agency, but on the co-operation of all interested in the industry, including managers, operatives, and the general public.

The strongest taboos are those voluntarily imposed. Classicism in the French theatres was very strong until they attempted to enforce the traditions by law, and then there came the romantic outbreak, represented by Hugo and Dumas.

The Chinese theatre is today strictly regulated by tradition, by conventions of the craft which are stronger than they would be if they were enforced by law.

The Board of Censorship has a dual capacity. It acts as mentor to the trade and as guardian of the public welfare. For the trade it is a way of systematizing the growth of the conventions and setting standards of the motion picture art. As guardian of the public welfare it exerts coercion through notification to various agencies throughout the country and through publicity.

"WHAT IS THE ANSWER TO THE MOTION PICTURES?"

By VERNE HARDIN PORTER.

For one thing, at least, the exploitation of vice and crime must cease. The National Board of Censorship is doing more than anything else to up-build the prosperity of the motion picture industry and to place it on a permanent foundation of decency and commonsense. It is a brake upon an industry that keeps it from running away with itself. Sectional, national or race prejudices must no longer be featured in the films; pictures glorifying or excusing the evil-doer, or in any way affecting matter before the courts—remark the Harry K. Thaw film—will not be permitted; drug-traffic films must be confined to pointing a moral; no scene may tend to profane or religious spirit or sacred things; unwritten law themes and mob-justice will be barred; underworld scenes, bar-room, drinking, drunkenness, unwonted displays of lingerie by women, women's smoking, and insanity will all be discouraged; suicide, trainwrecking and arson will not be tolerated. Is this asking much? It is only asking for clean films.

Much of our lives is spent in marring our own influence.

CORN BOYS RETURNING

New York, Dec. 5.—The Ohio corn party, after a visit to Washington, Philadelphia and this city, ended its trip and started for home. Here the boys and girls were addressed by Mayor Mitchell in front of the city hall. One case of sickness developed among the visitors. Miss Ella Stevenson of St. Paris, who won a prize for her fine bread, was stricken with appendicitis. She is in the Methodist Protestant hospital.

SIXTY INNOCENT BYSTANDERS HIT

Naco, Ariz., Dec. 5.—Snipers in the trenches of the Mexican combatants in Sonora fired into American territory, killing a Mexican civilian and wounding a United States soldier. The man killed was Antonio Bracemonte, a teamster, shot through the heart in front of the United States postoffice here. Private John Miller of the Tenth cavalry was shot in the thigh while in camp. Eighteen Americans, 14 United States soldiers and 28 Mexicans have been killed or wounded on the Arizona side of the line since the fight opened at Naco between the Maytorena and Hill forces.

NATIONAL BOARD WANTS MORE MATERIAL IN GOWNS

Issues Bulletin to Manufacturers Distinguishing Between Fashionable and Other Apparel.

The National Board of Censorship in Bulletin No. 11, which is reprinted below, says the New York "Telegraph," takes exception to the tendency of certain manufacturers to permit their actresses to under dress the part of the socially elect. The board draws a line between the ultra fashionable gown and the demi-monde imitation. The bulletin is designed to assist the manufacturer in saving several yards of film by adding an equal or corresponding amount of material to the costumes of his players. It reads as follows:

"To the Manufacturer.—During the past few weeks the National Board has received complaints from high-class motion picture exhibitors and the public that some of the producers of motion pictures are presenting their women characters in certain society scenes so scantily clothed that both good taste and the moral conventions are disregarded.

"We presume that the attempt of the producers has been to portray the elegance, luxury and atmosphere of so-called 'high life.' Unfortunately it has sometimes happened that they have more nearly approximated in these 'society' gowns the ideal of the demi-monde and the brothel.

"Public opinion frowns on women wearing gowns showing their backs bare to the waist, cut out in front beyond the requirements of decency, and with nothing whatever over their shoulders. It is only in the demi-monde, the burlesque and variety show, and in some motion pictures, that such gowns are presented as characteristic of women of taste, refinement and morals. The producer who presents or permits his actresses to present society scenes with women gowned in this manner is not only guilty of bad art, but also of making pictures with bad moral effect. We would, therefore, urge manufacturers and producers to be on their guard against further instances of this kind. Several eliminations by the National Board have recently been necessary in pictures of this type in response to public opinion.

"This whole matter of costuming is treated in paragraph 31, page 17, of 'The Policy and Standards of the National Board of Censorship of Motion Pictures,' as revised May, 1914. All producers are supposed to be supplied with this pamphlet, and if any of them are not, we shall be glad to send copies upon request.

"The National Board of Censorship."

Detroit Satisfied With National Board. Delegates representing the 120 motion picture houses in Detroit held a conference recently regarding matters pertaining to the business in that city.

Censorship of films and getting those theatres outside to come into the managers' association were the principal subjects considered.

A motion by W. L. Levy favoring an official censorship in Detroit was voted down and a resolution was adopted prohibiting members from exhibiting films not passed by the National Board of Censorship.

Interrupted the Firing.

It is told of Lieutenant General Leonidas Polk of the Confederate army that he rode into the midst of an Indiana regiment late in the evening at Perryville. He had observed a body of men firing upon his troops and supposed that those firing were Confederates and were shooting by mistake. He rode over that way to order the firing to cease and found himself confronted by a Hoosier colonel. General Polk wore a dark blouse, and the dusk of the evening saved him. He was asked as to his identity when he ordered the firing to stop, but, making a threat to show them who he was, rode away. As soon as he reached a copse of wood he put spurs to his horse and rapidly drew away.

GREENE COUNTY FULLY AROUSED

The rapid and almost unprecedented spread of hog cholera in Greene county is causing great alarm, and the officials of that county are taking steps to combat the disease.

Concerning the latest action the Xenia Gazette says:

"Fertilizing firms who have been in the habit of hauling along public highways in improperly protected vehicles, bodies of hogs that died of cholera, will have to stop the practice. Prosecutor Frank L. Johnson and the sheriff's office, who were notified of the practice by officers of Beaver Grange, today began an investigation of the matter."

"The law provides that bodies of animals that have died of contagious diseases, moved from the premises where death occurred, must be conveyed in closely covered wagons with tight bottoms. Beaver creek township farmers say that hogs that were victims of cholera are being hauled to Dayton along public highways in wagons in which there has been no attempt made to obey the provision of the law. It is believed that this practice is largely responsible for the rapid spread of cholera."

"Beaver Grange at its annual meeting Thursday night passed resolutions condemning the procedure of fertilizer firms, and Friday morning took the matter before county authorities."

NEWS THIEF IS INDICTED UNUSUAL CASE

By Associated Press.

New York, December 5.—H. L. Linder, a telegraph operator attached to the office of the New York Globe, and two other persons, unnamed, were indicted yesterday on charges of having violated Section 552 of the Penal law by revealing the contents of a telegraphic message sent out by The Associated Press.

Linder was arrested on November 27 after he had repeated to the New York News Bureau, a Wall street concern, a prepared message sent to The Globe a short time previously—and "killed" before it was printed in that newspaper—purporting to tell of the destruction by a mine of the mythical Russian dreadnaught "Fliba". Three indictments were handed up.

JUMPING ANIMALS.

Several Species of Fish Are Famed For Their Leaping Powers.

Jumping as a means of locomotion is shared by a variety of animals of widely different classes. Kangaroos and jerboas among the mammals, thrushes and robins among the birds, as well as such familiar forms as frogs, cockies, crickets and fleas—all illustrate this propensity to leap, mostly as a means of getting quickly over the ground, and even lions and tigers, which never spring in ordinary circumstances, readily adopt this method of attacking their victims.

A considerable number of fishes are remarkable for their leaping powers, and several of these performers are on that account specially favored by anglers, since by jumping clear of the water in some cases many times in succession they tax the fisherman's skill more severely than fishes less active and therefore give added zest to their capture.

Members of the salmon family are universally famous for their high jumps. The sea trout are untiring acrobats, and a fish of a pound weight will more than once jump several times its own length out of the water when hooked before coming to the net. At their best salmon can jump at least ten feet above the surface, a feat achieved by slapping the water with the powerful tail and flexing the body until the head and tail all but meet.—Philadelphia Ledger.

NERVE IN GOLF.

Vardon's Shot That Won a Match That Was Considered Lost.

In the American Magazine Jerome D. Travers writes on Vardon, whom he calls the greatest golfer. One year Vardon played over a hundred grilling matches over the longest and toughest British courses and averaged 74 for the season. In the following extract Travers describes what he considers Vardon's best shot:

"Except with the putter there seems to be no shot in golf beyond Vardon's magic. I will explain with one striking example just what I mean: In one of his championship battles he had come to the seventeenth hole at a tie with one of his rivals for the top. His drive here traveled a trifle farther than he had calculated and found a deep rut in a road crossing the course. His opponent, playing first, was nicely on the green in two for a sure four. It seemed that Vardon was beaten to a certainty. His ball was six inches below the top of the ground in a deep, narrow rut. And the green was 140 yards away.

"Vardon took out a heavy niblick and, in place of playing to one side to be sure to get out, took his stance in the direction of the pin and brought his club down with terrific force. To the wonder of the big gallery, the ball rose almost straight in the air and then, with the forward spin imparted, sailed on to within ten feet of the cup. The other man got his four, but Vardon got his three, winning a match that had been practically lost."

The Lone Wolverine.

Michigan is called the Wolverine

State because at one time it was the habitat of the animal of that name.

The same state used to have wild pigeon roosts of such vast size the sky

when the birds were arriving and leaving their roosts. Now the wild pigeon is a thing of the past, and the fact that a lone wolverene has been captured in the Detroit zoo is regarded as a great achievement. Washington has its Potomac shad, but it may become extinct

unless it is properly protected.—Washington Herald.

Blasting With Oxygen.

A practical way of using liquid oxygen for blasting has at last been found. Bags filled with a special form of lampblack are soaked in liquid oxygen for a few minutes. When detonated they explode with the force of dynamite, but when lighted with a match they burn quietly and slowly.

The cost is much less than that of dynamite, much less carbon dioxide is given off, and there is no danger from a misfire, as the oxygen will evaporate quickly if not exploded at once.
